

A thousand-year treasure

Dear friends,

It's time to give you more information about the breath-taking site where we will meet in June 2020. A pristine headland where to embrace the whole horizon.

The Château de Fère-en-Tardenois is an exceptional place. Listed as a historical monument, this masterpiece is a link between the Middle-Ages and the Renaissance period.

A bit of history

On the Road of coronations, in 1206, Comte Robert II of Dreux, grandson of the King of France Louis VI, acquired the land Fère, and there erected a fortress. The Masters of Fere, who succeed one another inside the castle, have left the imprint of their passage.

In 1539, Anne de Montmorency turns the Fortress into a Luxury Castle and built in 1560 a Viaduct of Pur Style Renaissance replacing the medieval bridge.

The 250-hectares hunting forest domain declined with the misfortune of its last owner, Philippe d'Orléans aka Philippe Egalité.

The castle was dismantled in 1779 to sell the furniture and materials component.

The ancient stables were converted into a Modern Castle in 1863, then into a hotel in 1956, today a 5-star member of the Small Luxury Hotels of the World.

A thousand-year treasure

From atop its millennium, it is a fabulous but fragile environment which is awaiting you.

That is why a member of our team will welcome and accompany you from your arrival to your car place at a snail's pace (in order to care your car and the 70 hectares around)

The VCA2020 rules and local area land-use plans defined by our logistics manager Philippe Tranchon, will be strictly applied. Philippe is an architect and is thus very much concerned by the infrastructure's conservation and by security items

Good humour and wonder will be the keywords of the day. While scouting and discovering the location, each member of the team has been completely put under its spell.
